ADVISORY COMMISSION FOR A NON-SEXIST USE OF PUBLICITY AND COMMUNICATION

EMAKUNDE
EMAKUNDEAN GURRAL ERAKUNDIA
BASQUE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Eusko Jaurlaritzako erakunde autonomiaduna
Autonomous Body of the Basque Government
Publicity and communication influence our perception of reality through the repetition of images and messages that stimulate the critical acceptance of certain values, behaviour models and lifestyles.

In both publicity and communication they continue to use markedly sexist elements that socialise and normalise discriminatory social roles for women and men; they present people as superior or inferior in human dignity depending on their sex or they even justify, trivialise or incite violence against women.

These models and prototypes are in clear disagreement with the educational and social goals that aim to achieve equality between women and men.

Defending a media content does not mistreat, degrade or present women as inferior and that they offer an image of women and men as a reflection of the social reality to which we aspire is a priority of the BEGIRA Commission.

What is BEGIRA

It is an advisory commission and a meeting place, attached to Emakunde-Basque Women’s Institute, that provides advice and carries out analyses to eliminate all types of sexist discrimination in the spheres of publicity and communication.

Likewise, it promotes the existence and application of ethical codes for content broadcast by public media and fosters agreements with private media to adapt communication to the principle of equality between women and men.

It is regulated by Decree 360/2013, of 11th June, of the advisory Commission for a non-sexist use of publicity or communication / BEGIRA, in response to Law 4/2005, of 18th February, for the equality of Women and Men.

Where does BEGIRA act

Its spheres of action are publicity, whatever the medium, and communication, be it a public or private communication medium. Always within the sphere of competence of the Basque Autonomous Community (BAC).

What are the main functions of BEGIRA
